

Beta Sigma Boulé Welcomes Three Outstanding Archons

Archons Jocelin Cesar, Calvin R. Hill, and Gregory S. Thomas

On December 6, 2016, Beta Sigma Boulé of Springfield, Massachusetts formally welcomed three new Archons into Sigma Pi Phi Fraternity. The formal ritual was led by Sire Archon H. Brooks Fitch and orchestrated by membership chair, Archon Lee Hines. Following the induction ceremony, Beta Sigma Archons and Archousai joined together for a delicious dinner, where the new Archons and Archousai were warmly welcomed into the Boulé family and was introduced to all in attendance.

Beta Sigma Boulé is pleased to welcome the following new Archons:

Archon Jocelin Cesar is a senior financial advisor with Merrill Lynch and specializes in retirement planning, personalized money management, and wealth creation. He began his career as an electrical engineer and held several engineering management positions in the nuclear, defense and space technology industries. His engineering background includes assignments with Lockheed Martin and Raytheon Systems Company. Archon Cesar holds bachelor's and master's degrees in electrical engineering from Northeastern. He and Archousa Rose reside in Deerfield, MA.

Archon Calvin R. Hill is vice president for Inclusion and Community Engagement at Springfield College, where he serves as a member of the President's Cabinet and leads all government and community relations activities. He has held prior appointments at the University of St. Thomas, Worcester State University, Worcester Polytechnic Institute, and McPherson College. Archon Hill serves on the board of Worcester Elm Park Center. He is also a member of the National Commission for African American Education, the National Association of Student Personnel Administrators, and Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity. He holds a bachelor's degree in Political Science from Bethany College, a master's degree in student personnel administration from Emporia State University, and a Ph.D. in political science from Howard University. Archon Hill and Archousa Susan reside in Worcester, Massachusetts.

Archon Gregory S. Thomas is a manufacturing strategy manager in the Emerging Innovations Group at Corning, Inc. He has distinguished himself as a global strategist, manufacturing innovator, and community leader. His career background also includes leadership positions of increasing responsibility at Union Pacific Railroad and Coca-Cola USA. Archon Thomas is a member of the University of Massachusetts Amherst Alumni Association and serves as President-Elect. He is also a member of the University of Massachusetts Amherst Foundation and a lifetime member of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity. He holds a bachelor of science degree from the University of Massachusetts Amherst and a master of business administration degree from Clark Atlanta University. Archon Thomas maintains dual residences in Horseheads, New York and Springfield, Massachusetts.